The screenshot shows the FUNecole website interface. At the top right, it says "Site language: English" with a dropdown arrow and a "Login" button. Below this is a section titled "I want to learn..." containing a list of languages with their respective flags and a right-pointing arrow next to each. A red arrow points from the "English" dropdown to the first instruction, and another red arrow points from the "Irish" language option to the second instruction.
